

THE POWER OF CRYSTALS

Leaded Glass Crystals are famous worldwide for their precision cuts, clarity, and sparkle. The characteristics of crystals are unparalleled in both style and substance.

Crystals are used to add new energy to a space and to redirect energy in a more beneficial direction. They possess healing qualities and harness the positive energy of nature, protecting you from chaotic and negative energy. They also harmonize the flow of energy by attracting positive energy to a location.

It uses the principle of light deflection in a simple, practical and effective manner to create big changes in energy. When light sources hit the "leaded" faceted spheres, prismatic rainbows scatter beautifully through your space to add new energy to your space, filter off sha chi energy, harmonize chaotic flows of energy, protect you from poison arrows by diffusing such energy flow, empower visualization practices and attract good energy to a location.

Faceted Crystal balls tied with red string is potent enough to maneuver and enhance chi wherever it is placed. Red is the most auspicious and powerful color in Feng Shui and is the color for attraction, warmth and strength. The string is cut in increments of nine inches, since nine is a special number in Feng Shui, and it represents maximum power.

Completely round, clear crystals are better than prism-shaped, geometric crystals or colored crystals, since they allow the chi to travel equally around the sphere into the entire room.

With your purchase of crystals comes with a complete brochure of where and how to place them in your home or office. Packaged in a bubble bag to protect them in transit, they are housed in a beautiful silk Chinese drawstring bag. It is recommended to cleanse the crystals when they arrive to re-set their energy.
